

Information and Consent Form for Meadow Lodge Residentials

Our Vision

Every child and young person in Derbyshire should be given the opportunity to experience outdoor education and activities as an integral part of their learning and development.

The Centre

Lea Green Centre is Derbyshire's leading outdoor and personal development centre. The Centre consists of a large 19th century manor house set in its own 26 acres of parkland. The site has a large range of sports and development facilities including a sports hall, astro-turf training area, high & low ropes courses, a large soft play area, arts and craft workshops, 'Glamping' and camping area, games rooms and lots more! Meadow Lodge is a purpose built bungalow in the grounds of Lea Green Centre.

We provide residential and day courses for young people and adults from all over Derbyshire involving a wide range of development activities and opportunities through outdoor adventure, sport, the environment and the arts. All activities share the common theme – personal development and the chance to have fun!

Courses at Lea Green Centre

Each programme is tailored specifically to the group to deliver a combination of adventure, learning, challenge, fun, exercise and enjoyment.

The programme may involve a range of adventurous activities including, but not limited to; stream walking, climbing, rock scrambling, kayaking and canoeing, high and low ropes courses, orienteering, sports activities, problem solving, night walks and games programmes (please see your individual programme). Many of these activities will involve participants wearing a variety of helmets, climbing harnesses and chest harnesses. In general, climbing harnesses have a waist strap at roughly trouser belt height and a strap around each leg at mid-thigh. Staff are experienced at fitting these sensitively and working with young people with additional needs, but if you have any specific concerns regarding these issues, please contact Lea Green Centre staff and we will be happy to provide you with further information.

Lea Green Centre staff will be responsible for the supervision and safety of the group whilst on activity. Accompanying staff support Lea Green Centre staff whilst on activity and are responsible for discipline and pastoral supervision of students throughout the stay.

Living together at Lea Green Centre is part of the challenge – participants share their time together, working as part of a team and gaining a better understanding and an appreciation of others. For many, staying at Lea Green Centre is their first residential opportunity and is a chance to promote the development of self-confidence, positive relationships with others and independence.

It is normal practice for participants to have some free and social time whilst undertaking a residential stay; this promotes the building of relationships and provides opportunity for them to develop responsibility and life skills. During free time group members have access to rooms with pool tables and table tennis, and to the grounds of Lea Green Centre where there are areas to socialise and take part in sporting activities. The accompanying staff have a responsibility for the supervision of young people during free time.

Whilst not directly supervised they are given guidance on expected behaviour and the location of staff. A duty member of staff is available in cases of emergency.

Safety at Lea Green Centre

We are licensed by the Adventure Activities Licensing Authority to undertake adventurous activities. Whilst our primary concern is the safety of participants at Lea Green Centre there is obviously a certain amount of risk involved in such activities. If you have any concerns please contact Lea Green Centre staff and we will be happy to provide you with further information.

To help us in regard to safety, there are a few rules for participants, stressing the need for responsible behaviour. Participants should be sensible, listen to group briefings and follow instructions from Centre and accompanying staff.

Visitors to Lea Green Centre must register at reception and are issued visitor or meeting badges.

The County Council does reserve the right to exclude participants who behave inappropriately or who are a risk to themselves or to others whilst at Lea Green Centre. Participants bringing alcohol or drugs to Lea Green Centre and/or Meadow Lodge will be removed from the course.

Insurance

Please note that course participants are not covered by any personal accident / personal belongings insurance policy. Parents or young people who may wish to arrange this type of cover are asked to consult with their own insurance company.

Personal Belongings

Participants are provided with a recommended kit list. Please make sure that all personal belongings are clearly marked with the participant's name. It is not advisable to bring valuable items. Any items brought to the Centre will be held at the individual's own risk and the Centre will not be held responsible should they be lost or damaged.

Accommodation

All rooms in Meadow Lodge accessible accommodation are twin bedded with access to a shared en-suite bathroom. Sometimes a third bed is added to a bedroom at the request of a visiting group. One bed in each room is an electric profiling bed, and bedrooms and bathrooms have tracked ceiling hoists. Bedrooms and changing rooms are regarded as private areas to be accessed only by those who have been allocated those rooms. Cameras or mobile phones should not be used in these areas.

Lea Green Centre is a secure site with no access to the house after the duty member of staff has completed lock-up. There is always a Lea Green Centre member of staff on duty or on call. Visitors are not allowed in dormitory areas or Meadow Lodge accommodation.

Medical Information and Medication

Please ensure that the attached consent form is completed and returned to Lea Green Centre staff as appropriate.

All medication will need to have specific consent from you. Medication should be clearly labelled with the participant's name and the required dosage. For the majority of programmes or courses, accompanying staff will control the handling and issuing of medication for young people. The accompanying staff will liaise with Lea Green Centre staff as appropriate.

Meadow Lodge at Lea Green

Please ensure that you inform Lea Green Centre staff about any allergies or dietary requirements that the participant may have. Please contact us if you are unsure or need to discuss a dietary or medical condition.

Participants at Lea Green Centre undertake activities in or near lakes and streams. Leptospirosis (Weils disease) is a rare but endemic waterborne disease in Great Britain and there is therefore a small risk of infection from contact with water. Should a participant who has attended a course at Lea Green Centre develop flu or fever like symptoms, we advise consulting your doctor and informing them that the participant has had contact with inland lake and stream water.

Ticks are found throughout the UK and are known to carry Lyme's disease. If the participant has a red skin rash that looks like the bullseye on a dartboard or you discover a tick please consult your doctor.
